Peoria Mexican Hanged for Murder Today

STRANGLED ON GALLOWS IN CO. JAIL

Shooting of Girl He Loved Last March Brought Penalty

Two Lost Appeals to Avoid Hangin Tomorrow Morning

Springfield, Ill., April 15.—(AP)—Governor Small today refused to interfere in the cases of Emil Fricker, Madison county farmer, and Raymond Costello, Chicago, both sentenced to hang tomorrow morning.

Attorneys for both men made last minute pleas for commutation of sentence yesterday afternoon before the Board of Pardons and Paroles here but without avail.

Fricker was convicted of the killing of John Nunkesser, a neighbor, and Costello was found guilty of the murder of Madeline White.

Peoria, Ill., April 15.—(AP)—Jose Ortiz, youthful Mexican, was hanged at 10:08 in the county jail here this morning for the murder of his 17-year-old sweetheart, Estelita Martinez, March 21, 1925. Ortiz killed the girl in a fit of jealousy and shot Virgil Hill 17, who was talking to the girl, Ortiz's execution is the first in Peoria county since December 20, 1907, when Edward Clifford was hanged for the murder of his father.

Ortiz went to his death calmly and with a firm step. His last and only words was a request to give his new shoes to his friends. He was pronounced dead 14½ minutes after the trap was sprung.

Strangled to Death.

The knot apparently slipped when he dropped and his feet struck the floor with a resounding rap. A deputy called to "pull him up" and the rope was lifted so that his feet could not touch the floor. He died apparently from strangulation.

Ortiz' last hope was taken last night when the Governor, acting on the recommendation of the pardon board, refused to commute the sentence from death to life imprisonment. He spent the night quietly after eating a hearty meal he smoked numerous cigarettes and slept soundly most of the night.

Feared to Display Love.

On the day of the crime, Ortiz was living in a shack on the river bank. Living near him was the Martinez girl, whom he grew to love but with the ingrained reticence born of his early training and position in life, he watched her from a distance and dared not tell her of his sentiment. His love grew but was unable to find expression other than jealousy. On the morning of March 12 he watched the girl hanging clothes when Virgil Hill approached and asked the direction to a house he sought. Inflamed with jealousy and hatred at the sight of a white boy talking to his sweetheart, Ortiz approached with a gun, fired several shots at Hill who fled then killed the girl instantly.

PRESIDENT HAS INDIGESTION; IS CONFINED TO BED

Cancelled all Engagements Today; Attack is Not Serious

Washington, April 15.—(AP)—A mild attack of indigestion led President Coolidge to cancel engagements today and retire to the executive mansion.

The illness made its appearance yesterday and impelled the President to remain in the mansion most of the afternoon, although he kept his morning engagements and then spent a short time in the executive offices late in the afternoon.

He was visited twice yesterday by Major Coupal, his physician, but went to the executive offices as usual this morning.

Feeling no better, however, he cancelled a heavy engagement list and returned at 11 o'clock to the White House in the hope of conquering the trouble by rest.

Major Coupal visited him there and indicated that the indisposition was not regarded as serious.

After going to his quarters today, Mr. Coolidge went to bed in order to secure complete rest.

His heart action and temperature were said by Dr. Coupal to be normal, but there was some intestinal pain. The physician expects him to be back to work tomorrow.

The program is not confined to the membership of the lodge but to the public in general.

A committee of Dixon ladies has been selected by the Elks entertainment committee to arrange the first section of tomorrow evening's recital. These ladies will select the numbers that will be rendered. The Rhondia Singers have a list of more than 200 selections from which their programs are built up. Musical organizations are requested to frame the first part of their program and the remaining half is sung from numbers suggested by the listeners, this being a novel part of their entertainment. MILITIA TO STAY IN HERRIN UNTIL AFTER ELECTIONS

In Meantime the Coroner's Jury Will Probe in Fatal Rioting

Herrin, Ill., April 15.—(AP)—A jury of Williamson county citizens will sit tomorrow in inquiry over the fatal shooting Tuesday in front of a Herrin polling place in which three Klansmen and three anti-Klansmen were killed.

The jury is impaneled and has visited the morgue where lie the bodies of the dead. Newspapersmen will not be barred from the inquest, State's Attorney Boswell announced today dispersing rumors to the contrary.

While the community awaits the verdict of the coroner's inquest, it is analyzing each side in the light of its own sympathies, the causes behind the strife which burst forth anew Tuesday just as residents were beginning to hope that an eleven month truce meant permanent peace.

Relatives of the dead Klansmen declare that the anti-Klan faction launched the attack in reprisal for liquor raids by S. Glenn Young, Klan leader, two years ago. Young is dead now, one of the 19 victims of the Herrin war. He escaped death from alien bullets in May, 1924, when he and his wife were fired upon and wounded as they motored along a road near Okawville. Young was killed January 4, 1925 when he engaged in a gun battle in the lobby of a Herrin hotel across the street from the Smith garage, where Tuesday's shooting began.

Mayor Blames Bootleggers
Mayor Marshall McCormick, a former Klansman named to office on a nonpartisan ticket, blames bootleggers of the anti-Klan faction for the Tuesday shooting, while State's Attorney Arrie Boswell, a Klansman, says the mayor and the sheriff could have prevented trouble had they "done their duty."

Sheriff George Galligan, an anti-Klansman, had agreed with McCormick not to send deputies, both believing it would only irritate the situation which did not look serious a few hours before the actual outbreak.

The incident which served to focus the shooting at the polls on primary day was the fight for the republican nomination for sheriff of Williamson County. The nomination was won by Glen Coleman, endorsed by the Klan, who had a big plurality in a field of seven. Coleman, if elected, will succeed Galligan, who has been a storm center throughout his official career.

Victor Was Veteran

Boswell recommended Coleman as one of the best qualified men ever nominated for office in Williamson county. He is a graduate of Southern Illinois Normal at Carbondale and has almost finished work for a master's degree at the University of Illinois.

He was principal of the Herrin township high school eight years ago and is a World war veteran.

Mauna Loa Belches Forth With Stream of Lava in Night

Hilo, April 15.—(AP)—The volcano Mauna Loa belched forth in another spectacular eruption last night and thousands of spectators watched great streams of lava surge from the summit and start down the 12,000 foot slope toward the villages in the Kilauea district.

The sight was described as almost appalling as the lava, like a red flaming river, surging out of the heavens, began its descent toward the forest, which is expected to be blotted out of existence.

Observers say great activity is occurring at the source of the flow which is illuminating the entire island. Reports from ships at sea in the vicinity of the island say the glare is plainly visible.

FINE DISPLAY OF NORTHERN LIGHTS WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Heavens Illuminated by Phenomenon; Seen by Dixon Citizens

People of this section of the state, in common with those from New England to the Rockies, witnessed a marvelous display of the Aurora Borealis, or "northern lights," Wednesday night. The heavens in the north being beautifully illuminated by the light.

Chicago, April 15.—(AP)—The Aurora Borealis, or northern lights, buccinated of telegraph communication circuits, and beautiful phenomenon of the Arctic, shone brightly last night over the northern sections of the United States extending from New England to the Rocky Mountains. Appearing brilliantly for the first time since last January, telegraph companies reported considerable interference to wires in northern parts of the country.

Observers in the Rocky Mountain regions and in the north midwestern states reported last night's play of the lights as extremely beautiful.

The Aurora, scientists have discovered, is an electro-magnetic phenomenon streaming out in rays from the earth's magnetic poles. The sun pours out electrons at all times, but particularly when there are spots on its surface, scientists say. Currents of electricity radiate from the spots like the discharge in a vacuum tube. The earth is a magnet and attracts them. As this radiant electricity is drawn toward the earth's magnetic poles they excite the upper air and make it glow and quiver to every wave of energy from the sun.

BROWNING HOPES FOR AN ENDLESS HOME ROMANCE

Issues Statement Explaining Marriage to "Cinderella"

New York, April 15.—(AP)—Edward V. Browning expects to realize his greatest ambition—to preside over a happy home and family. He fell in love at first sight in the spring and his romance promises to be endless.

Such is the explanation of the wealthy 51 year old real estate operator of his marriage last Saturday to Frances Heenan, 15 year old school girl.

In a statement issued at Cold Springs, N. Y., he says he had no intention of an immediate marriage with his latest "Cinderella girl" until the action taken by the children's society to investigate his relations with her "made a wedding desirable as a rebuke to those who either conceived or believed the motives attributed to me by the children's society."

The bride is still under treatment for acid burns, which she says were inflicted by an intruder in her mother's apartment before her marriage.

Ernest K. Coulter, general manager of the children's society, said yesterday that the organization had voluntarily abandoned proceedings to take the girl from custody of her mother. The proceedings were started before her marriage.

Referring to the amendments he recently introduced to the Edge referendum bill, to make the referendum hinge directly on the question of repealing the 18th amendment, the Idaho senator continued:

"Let us go back to the fundamental law and submit that question to the people of the United States and see what they say about it. If they take it out, every man should live up to it (the constitution) with that out, just as now we should live up to it with it in."

ALLEN AND WARREN WIN HARD CONTEST FOR PLACE ON REPUBLICANS' BALLOT

PROHIBITION WAR WILL BE RENEWED ON SENATE FLOOR

Pitched Battle Between Borah and Reed is Seen as Possible

Washington, April 15.—(AP)—The prohibition war that has been raging before the senate investigating committee seems certain to occupy a prominent place from now on in debate on the floor of the Senate itself.

As a result of the speech yesterday of Senator Borah, republican, Idaho, challenging those who are campaigning against the 18th amendment and the Volstead act, the modification is expected to renew, as soon as opportunity offers, their argument for a change.

The Senate looked forward to the intriguing prospect of a possible pitched battle on the floor sometime soon between Senator Borah and Senator Reed, another of the Senate's ablest debaters and one of the leaders of the wet cause.

Senator Borah's speech yesterday attracted unusual attention and his arguments for respect for the dry law drew dry senators to break Senate precedent by joining in the applause. His utterances aroused even more interest today when members had an opportunity to weigh more carefully his challenge to the wets.

Calls Amendment Binding.

The Idaho senator quoted the 18th amendment, referred to the binding interpretation placed upon it by the supreme court, and continued:

"The amendment binds every official and every citizen, and so long as it remains there, it is the first duty of good citizenship, to respect it and seek to uphold it. We are now engaged in a great campaign to find a way by which to evade the constitution without apparently doing so, to find a method or a means by which we can counteract or nullify its terms without specifically repealing this part of the constitution or without modifying it directly. It is a campaign to sterilize the constitution while professing to respect it."

"No one contends that those who are opposed to prohibition have not the right to carry on a campaign for the purpose of changing the constitution but so long as it remains a part of the constitution, it is the duty of every citizen loyally to support and maintain it, not only in letter but in spirit."

Senator Borah added that in his opinion it was a very serious problem whether "it was wise" to take over "the great body of police power" which the federal government assumed when the dry amendment was adopted, but added that if a mistake was made, it could be remedied only by repealing or amending the amendment itself. It could not be done, he said, by transferring the power of the enforcement to the states or by changing the Volstead act.

Quoting from the testimony of District Attorney Buckner of New York before the prohibition committee, Senator Borah characterized as "cowardly, contemptible expediency" any proposal to let the states define and enforce the dry law.

"The great civil war was fought over that principle," he said. "If my mind is in question it is a deliberate evasion of the constitution. It is disloyalty to the first principle of a federal union and a violation of the oath which every federal officer takes when he takes office."

When Senator Bruce, democrat, Maryland, suggested that the northern states virtually blocked the enforcement of the fugitive slave law before the civil war, Senator Borah asked whether any one wanted to "appeal to a defiance of the constitution as a precedent." Senators Edge, republican of New Jersey and Wadsworth, republican of New York, defended the feasibility of permitting sale of beverages non-intoxicating in fact, but Mr. Borah insisted that what the wets want is intoxicants in violation of the constitution.

Referring to the amendments he recently introduced to the Edge referendum bill, to make the referendum hinge directly on the question of repealing the 18th amendment, the Idaho senator continued:

"Let us go back to the fundamental law and submit that question to the people of the United States and see what they say about it. If they take it out, every man should live up to it (the constitution) with that out, just as now we should live up to it with it in."

DeKalb Man Beats Out Hamilton for Second Place

Canvassing Board in Session Today Checking Up Vote

The Lee county canvassing board is in session at the court house this afternoon checking over the returns of Tuesday's primary, and it is expected that official totals of the vote will be available by evening. The complete official vote will be published in Friday's Telegraph.

Complete returns from Lee, Whiteside and Ogle counties—official from the latter two—show that Henry C. Allen of Whiteside and Alvin Warren of DeKalb were nominated by the Republicans of the 13th Senatorial district at Tuesday's primary as their candidates for Representative in the General Assembly. Allen leads the ticket of six candidates with a grand total of 23,492, while Warren tops Hamilton of Morrison, 15,832 to 15,620, a margin of 212. The total vote on Representative in the district is:

| DeKalb | Lee | Whiteside | Totals |
|----------|-------|-----------|-------------|
| Allen | 4367 | 3785 | 15341-23492 |
| Valle | 3566 | 5788 | 12334-16557 |
| Hamilton | 2152 | 2113 | 11355-15629 |
| Huck | 1982 | 5899 | 4344-8316 |
| Warren | 13463 | 1978 | 391-15832 |
| Harris | 2024 | 2434 | 696-4154 |

The totals from the three counties in the district on the State Senatorship are:

| DeKalb | Lee | Whiteside | Totals |
|--------|-------|-----------|--------|
| Wright | 6867 | 3359 | 10226 |
| Tourt. | 4023 | 5062 | 2954 |
| Totals | 15288 | 10175 | 25463 |

Incomplete returns from the 35th Congressional district show that Congressman William R. Johnson of Prospect carried every one of the six counties, being an easy victor. The vote:

| Whiteside | DeKalb | Lee | Ogle | Stephenson | Carroll | Jo Davies | Totals |
|-----------|--------|-------|------|------------|---------|-----------|--------|
| Johnson | 4516 | 4691 | 3413 | 3749 | 5858 | 1075 | 2709 |
| Crowell | 4516 | 4691 | 3413 | 3749 | 5858 | 1075 | 2709 |
| Totals | 22254 | 16085 | | | | | |

Devine Also Victor
The extent of Representative John P. Devine's margin over Angier Wilson of Dixon for minority representative could not be determined today, as but few tabulations were made of the light democratic vote cast. However it is assumed that Devine was an easy victor.

Lee county was the only one of the three counties which reported any figures at all on the contest, reports from twenty-five precincts giving Devine 1780 and Wilson 173.

WETS TO END EVIDENCE IN BEER HEARING

Former Welfare Worker Says Prohibition Ruins Young

Washington, April 15.—(AP)—Arguments by anti-Volstead members of the House interspersed with a vivid description of how fancy distilling is done, today carried toward its conclusion the demonstration of the wets before the Senate prohibition committee.

The lesson in whiskey making was given by Senator Reed, democrat, Missouri, the only wet among the committee members. He brought along with him and put into evidence a bevy of small stills, a charred keg, some corn sugar and samples of flavoring extracts which he said went to make up the finished product of the illicit liquor manufacture.

Corn Sugar Consumption
The articles were identified for the senator by enforcement officials of the federal government. Mr. Reed then presented Commerce department figures showing that consumption of corn sugar more than tripled between 1919 and 1923.

Representative Hill, republican of Maryland, head of the wet bloc in the House, led off for the House advocates of a change in the dry laws, using his own acquittal some months ago by a Maryland jury as a precedent to support his contention that the making of drinks with a substantial alcoholic content is constitutional.

Advocates Referendum
One of the three women representatives in congress, Mrs. Mary T. Norton, democrat, New Jersey, a former welfare worker, advocated a national referendum on the question of bringing to an end the present "horrible condition." Questioned by Senator Reed she said the effect of prohibition had been to "ruin a great many of our young people." She read a letter telling of the sale of poison liquor in a veterans bureau hospital, with the result that some of the patients died. The name of the hospital was withheld.

Representative Kindred, democrat, New York, a physician declared experiments which he had conducted on himself and others had "proven conclusively" that the 2.75 percent beer sold during the war was non-intoxicating.

Andrews Gave Climax
The climax of the modificationists' attack on the act was achieved yesterday when they drew from Assistant Secretary Andrews, reorganizer of the government's enforcement machinery, an opinion that sale of beer non-intoxicating in fact, as proposed by Senator Edge, republican of New Jersey, with the government exercising strict control would improve conditions under prohibition.

With completion of the wets' case the Board of Temperance, prohibition and public morals of the Methodist Episcopal church will resume the presentation of testimony in behalf of the drys' contention that the Volstead act should not be modified, but should be made more rigid than it is, if changed at all.

Amboy Firemen Will Have Benefit Friday

The Amboy fire department, the members of which earned the undying gratitude of the people of Dixon by responding to a call for help when Duffy's garage burned a year ago last Christmas, coming to this city with eight men and their truck and assisting in the battle to extinguish the fire, for which they made no charge to Dixon, will give a benefit dance in the opera house in Amboy Friday evening. Doubtless a number of young dancers will attend and help return the compliment.

THE GOLDEN WEDDING—

One hears, even in this day of marital discord, of so many old couples celebrating their 50 years together.
Many daughters have asked for "tips" on celebration ideas. Try these:

Write the invitations in gold ink on gold-edged cards. For a spring golden wedding, nothing is so lovely for decorations as the spring yellow flowers—forythia, daffodils, yellow crocus, yellow tulips. And nothing so lovely for a table centerpiece as just a huge bowl filled with the yellow flowers and fern. Gold-banded dishes or little gold lace paper dollies on the dishes make a pretty table. Orange sherbet with yellow frosted cake give the right note to the menu, and tiny white boxes tied with gold cord and filled with a piece of the wedding cake should be given the guests at parting.

Wedding of Former Dixonite Celebrated

A wedding of much interest to Dixon friends is clipped from the society page of the Elkhart Truth of Saturday, April 10th. The bridegroom, Charles Theodore Boynton, is a former Dixon boy, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Boynton who formerly lived on Peoria avenue. From a very young lad Theodore Boynton made his home with Mr. and Mrs.

William Fischer of North Galena avenue, Dixon. The article from the Elkhart Truth is as follows:

GREENLEAF-BOYNTON.

Simplicity marked the wedding at 4 o'clock this afternoon of Miss Dorothy Carroll Greenleaf, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dimond Greenleaf to Charles Theodore Boynton of Chicago, nephew of Mrs. L. A. Sanford of Chicago and Mrs. C. T. Boynton of Highland Park, Ill. The ceremony took place at the Greenleaf home, 1415 Greenleaf boulevard, which was attractively decorated in lilacs, pink tulips and snap dragons.

The bride and bridegroom welcomed the guests, mingling with them until the wedding hour, when they took their places in one end of the living room, where the Rev. R. A. White, pastor of the Peoples' Liberal church, Chicago, read the service. Mr. White also performed the ceremony that united the bride's parents, as well as several aunts and uncles on the bridegroom's side. The families of the bride and bridegroom are also old and intimate friends. Throughout the wedding ceremony today an orchestra, with Cresco Stemm at the piano, played softly. The bride wore a dainty gown of cream princess applique Bohe-mian lace. She also wore the pearls worn by all members of the Phi Delta

Upsilon sorority when they become brides.

A wedding dinner was served at 5
p. m. to the 40 guests, mostly Chicago friends of the family and college friends of the bride. Mrs. J. N. Gillett catered. The dining room was decorated in yellow jonquills and lavender sweet peas. Mrs. and Mrs. Boynton expected to leave this evening on a wedding trip south. Upon their return they will be at home at 5449
Woodlawn avenue, Chicago.

Mr. Boynton is connected with Pickens Brown & Co. of Chicago. His bride is a graduate of the University of Chicago.

Among the guests at the wedding were the Rev. R. A. White and Mrs.
White, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Sanford,
Mr. and Mrs. Walter Boynton, Miss Margaret Walker and Mrs. John R.
Hornville, all of Chicago; Miss Helen Hayden, Elgin, Ill.; Miss Margaret Adkinson, Salt Lake City, Utah; Miss Elizabeth Vilas, Oak Park, and Miss Diana Richards, Tulsa, Okla.; all friends from the University of Chicago; Mrs. Everett Millard and son, and Dr. and Mrs. Hugo Fisher and daughter, Olivia, from Highland Park, Ill.; Mrs. C. H. Fisher, Niagara, Ontario;
Miss Chalice Kelly, New York; Miss Eleanor McDowall, Oak Park, Ill.; and Miss Winifred Wadsworth, Lawe For-

Pleasant Meeting
With Mrs. Ahrens

A very pleasant and profitable meeting of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society was held with Mrs. H. A.
Ahrens Tuesday afternoon with a large attendance.

The meeting opened with singing a hymn. The leader of devotions, Mrs.
Withers, then introduced Rev. Moser, who is conducting a series of meetings at the Bethel Evangelical church) and he gave a very helpful address. The points he emphasized were Loyalty to the church as well as the society, unity in the church, in praise, in prayer, and unity in giving.

He made it very strong in the use of scripture. With Mrs. Morrill at the piano Mrs. George favored with a beautiful vocal solo and responded to an encore. Mrs. Deutsch in her usual pleasing manner gave the last chapter in the study book, the subject
"Wherefore Pray." The Mystery Box was made very interesting in charge of Mrs. Lonsden. After repeating the Lord's Prayer, the meeting adjourned to meet in May with Mrs. Kirby Reed.
A social hour followed. Ice cream and cake were served.

orating the one hundred and fiftieth

Calvin Coolidge, will be the guest of the Exposition on that great day, July 4th. More than five thousand Philadelphia singers will furnish the foundation for this mighty chorus, and representative singers from each state in the union will be expected officially to represent their communities.

ASSOCIATION

HOOVER TIMELY OFFICIAL.

It is fortunate for the midwest that Herbert Hoover is secretary of commerce at this time, when waterway transportation is seen as a necessity. He holds a comprehensive view of the situation and its possibilities. He does not come to us as a swivel chair dreamer, but as a competent engineer. He sees the Mississippi river as the main artery with laterals as follows:

An east and west trunk line connecting Pittsburgh with Cairo, St. Louis and Kansas City.

A great north and south trunk line from New Orleans to Chicago and connected up with St. Paul and Minneapolis.

Improvement of the upper Missouri to reach Omaha and points in South Dakota.

These, with improvements for the Tennessee river and coastal canal, would give three thousand miles of trunk lines and six thousand miles of laterals.

"There are still open questions in engineering in respect to the shipway from the Great Lakes to the seas, but the engineering questions as to the Mississippi river system are behind us," said the secretary before the rivers and harbors committee of the house of representatives. "We know what should be done. We know it can be completed to the present contemplated stage for something like 100 millions of dollars. It would require about five years if we went at it vigorously."

Giving the committee some idea of the manner in which transportation costs may be cheapened, he said that for transes the Mississippi river as the main artery with laterals as porting a thousand bushels of wheat a thousand miles the approximate cost would be: On the Great Lakes, $20 to $30; on the modern Mississippi barge, $60 to $70; on the railway, $150 to $200.

"Our agricultural area has been thrown out of its economic relationships to foreign agricultural competitors to the great disadvantage of the middlewest," said Hoover. "The advance in the cost of labor and materials has necessitated great and permanent increases in railway rates, and it obviously costs more for the middlewest farmer to get his produce to seaboard than before war."

"It becomes highly important to the farmer of Iowa and Kansas that Chicago should be on this transportation system as providing fundamental necessity of a balanced load. The same applies to the Great Lakes system."

When the senate adopted a resolution providing that a committee on investigation of the tariff board should include one "progressive republican," it followed the Illinois plan of legislating for counties of more than 500,000 population. There is only one. Vice President Dawes found that Robert LaFollette is the only senator who listed himself as a progressive republican in the congressional directory.

At Yale a faculty committee recommended that students not be required to attend Sunday service, "believing that the exercise of compulsion in this regard has injured rather than helped religious interests." The college has a daily chapel service, to which this recommendation does not apply.

One of the comforts of home is you often have something to show for your bills.

Women may keep their skin soft by making their husbands shave.

Only a very short time now until we will be surprised at the way baseball games come out.

Robbers lead a hard life. They have to keep in good shape or some bobbed-haired girl will whip them.

About two million children are born in this country every year. Drive your auto carefully.

Learning to drive slowly seems to be harder than learning to drive fast.

Arrested a man in Yellowstone Park for killing a deer. Of course he tried to pass the buck.

A woman may have trouble with her heart, but the greatest trouble she has with her head is washing her hair.

The honeymoon ends when he finds a chew of tobacco makes him more comfortable than her respect.

Hunt the bright side. Wouldn't things be awful if it was dark in the daytime and light at night?

We heard about a man who got 20 miles out of a gallon and six months out of a quart.

All the good don't die young. The good auto dodgers live a long time.

Almost time for the spring poet to see his shadow.

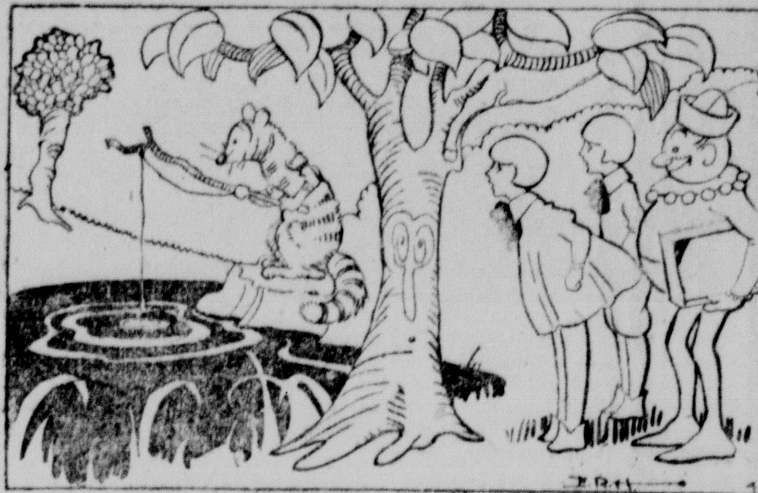

Stay away from bad company and you won't know enough cuss words to call your auto when it won't start.

The hard thing about making money last is making it first.

A wooden leg isn't as great a handicap as a wooden head.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWIN

A CHANGE OF TUNE

And there, sitting as nice as you peas", was Mister Coon fishing.

Nick took the big box with Ringtail Coon's spring clothes in it under his arm.

"Now come along, Nancy and Mister Tingaling," he said. "We're going to find that sly old coon and make him pay his rent, so we are!"

"Dear, dear! I certainly hope so," said poor Mister Tingaling. "If I don't get some rents soon, I'll be in rags."

"No, you won't," said Nick. "Not if my plan works out."

They went down the stairs and out of the door. Then they crossed the meadow and went past the barn and across the cornfield to Ripple Creek.

Then they went up Ripple Creek quite a way.

"Did you see old Ringtail Coon?" called Nick to Mister Tingaling.

"He went up the way," said Mister Tingaling.

So they went up a piece further. "Did you see old Ringtail Coon?" called Nancy to old Mister Tingaling.

"We went up that way," said Mister Tingaling, pointing his finger.

After they had asked Billy Beaver and Charley Otter and Marty Mink they decided that it was about time they were finding Ringtail himself.

Pretty soon they came to a place where a flat rock stuck out over the water.

And there, sitting as nice as you please, was Mister Coon, fishing.

He was singing a little song to himself. The tune was "Thanks for the Buggy Ride," but the words were different.

The words were:

Scouting in Lee and Ogle Counties Area

Saturday night a Troop of Boy Scouts which is the Elk's Club Troop of Rockford were the guests of Dixon for a short while. The boys gave us an exhibition with their drum corp and every one who heard them had a real treat. The boys were returning from a two hundred and fifty mile trip and just stopped in Dixon for their supper. We hope that some time again these lads may be our guests.

A hike was held Saturday afternoon with twelve boys in attendance. A good time was had by all and many birds of different kinds were seen, also a few small animals. Now is the time for hikes fellows as there are a lot of birds in the woods that you can see. In order to see the birds you must go along quietly and keep your eyes open.

Bird Houses displayed in Sterling's Drug Store window. The houses were sent in from Troop 1 Mt. Morris and Troop 1 Oregon.

SAVED OWN LIFE

A schoolroom in Greenville, Pa., was recently the scene of quick and intelligent first aid by a Scout in his own behalf.

When 12-year-old Scout Alexander Hart was examining the new knife of a friend his hand was accidentally jarred and the knife thrown against his right leg. One blade penetrated deep, severing an artery. The boy kept his head, and coolly fashioned a tourniquet of his handkerchief and a pencil. He applied this, stanching the blood until he became so faint that another boy had to hold the pencil. The teacher in the meantime had summoned the school physician, who said that had it not been for the boy's first aid knowledge the injury might have proved fatal.

An Executive Board meeting of the Blackhawk Council B. S. A. was held in Mt. Morris last night. There were twelve members present. Plans were discussed for the coming month and the summer camp was also mentioned.

Boy Scout Troop No. 4 met last night at the American Legion Rooms. The Scoutmaster Larry Tibbitts reported a good meeting with eight fellows present. The Troop is growing and promises to be a good one as the boys and Scoutmaster are showing a real interest in the work. The time was spent on Tenderfoot tests and some games were played. The meeting closed at 8 o'clock.

A hike is planned for this Saturday that will take the boys to Castle Rock for the day. All the boys who wish to go on this hike let us know before

Cars will meet us late in the afternoon and bring us back to Dixon. Boys wishing to pass their different tests may do so. We are going to have a good time so let's go.

A Patrol Leaders course was started in Oregon last night. There were sixteen boys that attended the first meeting. Seven boys came over from Mt. Morris and the other boys were from Oregon. The course will be run for four weeks. The boys are very much interested and it promises to be a real training for them.

Troop No. 4, the Gyro troop will hold their second meeting tonight in the American Legion rooms. Larry Tibbitts Scoutmaster. Meeting starts promptly at 7:30. Lets have a good turn out boys for this meeting.

STORM DIDN'T GET THEM

Knowing what to do if you are lost in a forest is one mark of the real scout. Donald Nichols and William Van Dyke of Smithport, Pa., showed intelligent head work and good training when they recently lost the trail to camp and were obliged to spend a winter night in the woods.

As they could not start with their companions on a week-end trip to camp, the two boys set out alone later in the day to join their friends. At the top of the hill on the way they became confused and found that the high wind had obliterated the tracks of their companions.

Rather than run the risk of becoming lost in the forest expanse, they unsling their packs and made beds in a depression beside a stump. They rolled up snugly in their blankets, intending to go ahead the following day. Some time after midnight a game protector, passing that way found the boys, who were sleeping soundly. He awakened the pair and took them to the camp.

GETTING UP NIGHTS

Is One of Nature's Danger Signals. A Healthy Stomach Does Not Act at Night. Irritation, excessive acidity or abnormal deposits may be the cause. It needs cleansing. Laxated Buchu (Keller Formula) acts on the kidneys and bladder as Epsom Salts on the bowels. R. D. Neblett, 10 Oak St., Battle Creek, Mich., says: "For three years had to get up three times at night. Laxated Buchu (Keller Formula) helped me in two days. I now do heavy work. It isn't a patent medicine. The formula is on the label. Sold by leading drug stores or Keller Laboratory, Alachua, Fla., Ohio."

McKINLEY WIRES CONGRATULATIONS TO FRANK SMITH

Recalls Previous Poll in Which He Was Victorious

Chicago, April 15.—(AP)—Colonel Frank L. Smith, who won the republican nomination for senator over Senator William B. McKinley in Tuesday's primary, has been a precinct committeeman for 31 years and believes that the way to success in politics is to begin in a minor position with a small zone of influence.

"For 31 years I have been precinct committeeman almost continuously," he said at his home in Deight, Illinois, where he received congratulations on his victory. "Nothing much to make a hurrah about in that, yet that job brings you into relationship with all your neighbors. You are their political father confessor. You hear their troubles. You have an influence that gathers momentum."

Majority is 123,000

That momentum has carried Colonel Smith along, past occasional defeats, to his party's choice for one of the highest political offices Illinois can offer. His majority over Senator McKinley stood at 123,000 today with returns counted from all but 437 precincts.

One of those defeats, strangely enough, was suffered six years ago when he was primary candidate against the same man he defeated Tuesday. On that occasion he apparently was a victor for eleven days until the women's votes, kept separately at that time, were counted. They gave the nomination to Senator McKinley.

"Along about the first day of my ephemeral victory, I received a telegram of congratulation from McKinley, but when the votes were counted he had something like a 10,000 lead on me, and it was I who sent the final telegram," Colonel Smith related.

McKinley Congratulates Him.

"But it looks as if this victory would stand up all right," and he held up a message from Washington saying: "I congratulate you. Guess I am not premature this time—William B. McKinley."

Colonel Smith asserted that it was his stand against the World Court that was the "nub" of his victory. He made virtually his entire campaign on the issue of Senator McKinley's vote for American adherence to the court.

Latest election count indicated that all except one of Illinois' congressmen had been renominated. The exception was Frank Funk, republican, 17th district, a McKinley supporter.

The outstanding race within the state was that for the republican nomination for state treasurer, in which the candidate supported by Governor Small was defeated by a large plurality.

Garrett Deforest Kinney of Peoria today had piled up a lead of 71,626 over William J. Stratton in returns from all but 645 precincts. Kinney's vote was 394,815 and Stratton's 323,189.

MONTHLY REPORT SHOWS BIG WORK AT DIXON ASSN.

Officials Gratified by the Success of Labors
During March

In reporting the activities for the first month the local YMCA has reason to be gratified in every department. In the Boys' Department, the Pioneer program has met with exceptional success with the city Sunday schools and boys from every church are present every Tuesday night. This work ties the boy to his Sunday school, for he is not eligible to become a Pioneer unless he is a regular attendant in his Sunday school. It also answers the need of week day activities, under the leadership of his Sunday school, for the boys meet with their church leaders for Bible study, practical talks and constructive tests. At the present time the boys are preparing for tests in first aid, craftsmanship, building bird houses, etc.

The following figures tell a story of the work that has been carried on in the past month. This does not tell all the story, however, for many times does a boy come in for advice and help with his life problems during the month.

Tabloids of State History Compiled by A.P.

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—The remains of Illinois' oldest inhabitant, a prehistoric mammoth with eight foot tusks, that roamed the forests and river banks of the middle west several thousands of years before the birth of Christ, are now to be seen at the State Museum here. They were brought to light a few weeks ago by a steam shovel crew near Golconda working on the Ohio river waterway project.

Arranged in their huge glass case by Dr. A. R. Crook, museum chief, in such a way as to give an idea of their original position in the creature's body, these mighty tusks and bones, ready to crumble with age, are mute reminders of the size and strength of the beast that after twenty thousand years of oblivion while layer upon layer of slowly formed earth accumulated upon its recumbent body, is now for the first time, perhaps, the object of human scrutiny.

Best preserved of the remains are the two huge yellow tusks. One, seven and three quarters feet long by seven inches through, remains intact. The other was missing but for a section two feet in length. Ranking next in interest are the teeth—two upper molars and a single lower—by means of which Dr. Crook was able to positively identify the animals as belonging to the prehistoric mammoth family rather than the more recent elephant, and which indicated its age as about sixty years at time of death. In spite of a very common belief to the contrary, the lifetime of a mammoth, said Dr. Crook, rarely exceeded one hundred to one hundred and ten years.

Besides the tusks and teeth, the remains include a portion of the skull four feet wide in which two teeth were found still in position; two sections of the lower jaw bone showing the curve over which the tongue once extruded; the femur or upper bone of the right hind leg, nearly forty inches in length and remarkably slender considering the great weight which it once bore; a number of ankle bones; and finally a confused mass of ribs and smaller bones extremely porous and fragile to the touch.

In connection with the joking remark of Dr. Crook, upon his first arriving on the ground where the remains were being uncovered, that they might have belonged to one of Barnum & Bailey's circus elephants which had died and had been pushed overboard from a passing river steamer, an amusing incident developed. The casual remark gaining credence in a neighboring village, sufficiently stimulated the memory of an old negro to the point where he finally came to Dr. Crook and declared positively that just such an incident had actually occurred within his recollection. An unruly circus elephant aboard a river steamer had been shot and its carcass thrown overboard, he testified, and so there could be no longer any doubt as to the origin of these mysterious remains. It required no little explanation on the part of Dr. Crook, using the teeth and other remains as working models, to convince the old negro and others who thought as he did that their theory of the animal's presence there was quite untenable.

Stirling Expedition is at Amboy, East Indies

Amboy, N. J., April 15.—(AP)—The expedition headed by Professor Stirling of Berkeley, Calif., which is to explore Dutch New Guinea, arrived here today on board the Dutch government steamer Pomahout. The airplane was slightly damaged on the voyage.

An official reception was given by the governor on their arrival here.

RED SOX PROVE SURPRISES AND HIT EFFECTIVELY

While Washington Box Stars Prove Their Real Ability

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
American League baseball battles provided the features on the second day of the season, although Wayland Dean, youthful right hander sent to the Phillies by the Giants, allowed the Braves only four hits.

The Red Sox and Yankees continued their tremendous slugfest at Boston, but at the end of the tables of the previous day's three hour tussle had been reversed. The veteran Stanley Coveleskie, pitching for Washington, held in check the powerful Athletics, as Walter Johnson had done on Tuesday.

From the southern training camps had drifted reports that the Red Sox carried only two or three dependable hitters and the Yankees' journey up the coast which saw 12 consecutive victories over the Dodgers, had indicated that the once champions had returned to a hitting strength that would sweep all before it.

But in the Red Sox, the Yankees encountered worthy foes who failed at last by only one run, 12-11 in the opening game. With the weather improved yesterday the Bostonians contained their hitting and the Yankees could not match it. In the two days the Red Sox have made 19 runs on 29 hits, while the Yankees have made 10 runs on 26 hits. Yesterday's count was 8-7 in Boston's favor.

Far different is the situation in Washington where for 24 innings the Athletics have managed to score a single run and 12 safeties. Walter Johnson shut them out Tuesday 1-0 in 15 innings and yesterday Coveleskie whose strained back made him a failure in the last world's series permitted only six hits in nine.

Three Braves pitchers were pounded while Dean was giving his excellent demonstration at Philadelphia. The score was 10-1.

The Cubs made nine hits count for as many runs while Cincinnati could count only twice on 13 safe blows. At St. Louis the champion Pirates turned on the Cardinals and gained a 10-3 verdict. Hornsby who had a perfect day at bat Tuesday was unable to solve Kremer.

With a right hander opposing them the Giants used their sticks to good effect against Brooklyn and won 9-5. Ring, with the Phillies last year, pitched steadily after a shaky start.

Sidelights

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Al Simmons, fleet footed Athletic outfielder, broke up the Goose egg parade which the Senators have been putting on since the season opened. Connie Mack's tribe collected 15 eggs in the opening game and took five more in the second. Just as Covey was about to hand out the one to make a half dozen, Simmons darted out of the shell and went over the plate.

Jess Haines, Cardinal pitcher, is the season's first casualty. A line drive struck him on the instep yesterday and he had to be removed to a hospital.

Jack Bentley, former Baltimore star pitcher and hitter, traded by the Giants to the Phillies is playing a good game around first base and hitting the ball with telling effect.

SPORT BRIEFS

Last of five master craftsmen to defy with undimmed brilliance the tides of time and youth. Walter Johnson presses on to complete a 20 year pitching regime. He has resumed his place on the firing line within a few days after the passing of Jay Gould as court tennis king, the defeat of Willie Hoppe as 184 ballline billiard champion, Frank Kramer, the cyclist and Ty Cobb of the mighty willow. Cobb remains in baseball but has indicated that his appearances in the line-up this year are to be less frequent.

Professional golf teams representing the United States and Great Britain probably will meet in the international professional match on the Glen Eagles Club in Scotland, according to an announcement made at St. Petersburg by Robert E. Legalized Boxing in Chicago Result Vote

Chicago, April 15.—(AP)—With boxing brought back to the city as a legalized sport by a 3-1 vote, the Chicago boxing situation is at present in the hands of Governor Small. The Governor today indicated he will follow up the favorable action of the voters Tuesday and within ten days appoint a state boxing commission to assume control at once.

It is expected that the commissioners will assume their duties within two weeks and that everything will be in readiness for an inauguration of active boxing by the first of June.

PITTSBURGH WORLD CHAMPS PAY COMPLIMENT TO MIKE MARTIN

Declare Washington's Trainer A Wizard Liniment Mixer Beats the World.

READ WHAT SERIES STARS SAY ABOUT THIS LINIMENT

Fans who feel old, achy, lame, stiff, rheumatic and sore, should get hold of the World Series Heroes, Oldham, Wright, Morrison, Meadows, Rawlings, Aldridge, Kromer, Moore or Barnhart, who helped battle Pittsburgh to victory and ask them what is good for aches and pains. Or ask the Pittsburgh Trainer, George Aston. He knows.

Right away you'd learn, if you don't know it already, that this is a magic liniment made in Washington by the Senator's Trainer which is used in the big league because it knocks out such ailments quicker and better than anything on earth.

Every World Champ listed above endorses publicly this same liniment. They are unanimous about it—just like Ty Cobb, Walter Johnson, Sisler and scores of others are. It is a cinch Pittsburgh wouldn't use Mike Martin's Liniment if it wasn't the best money can buy because money is no object to a chap in their game.

Mike Martin, Trainer of Clark Griffith's bunch of Stars, makes it. He backs every bottle with his signature and reputation. The best stuff money can buy goes into it—results are naturally better and good goes but how can anybody go wrong with a remedy endorsed like it is. Throw away that foul smelling bottle of blistering liniment. Chuck into the ash can old fashioned stuff you have around the house and invest a few cents in a bottle of Mike Martin's Liniment. A good rub tonight and you feel like a fighting kid, ready to run a foot race in the morning. The White Cross Drug Store and all druggists have Mike Martin's Liniment with his personal directions on each bottle.—Adv.

Free Treatments For DEAFNESS

Head Noises from Nasal Catarrh

Hearing Restored

I have an original home treatment for deafness and head noises from nasal catarrh which I want every sufferer to try free—with-out obligation. For many years I suffered from catarrhal deafness and head noises. I perfected a treatment which completely restored my hearing. I gave it to others, and they were able to hear again. Since that time, hundreds have used it successfully.

Dr. W. O. Coffee

This Is FREE

I feel so sure that this treatment will restore hearing and end head noises from nasal catarrh that I want every sufferer to try it free. I want to prove at my expense that the results are quick and convincing.

It is the best treatment that I have found in 42 years' practice as eye, ear, nose and throat specialist.

25,000 Treatments To Be GIVEN AWAY This Month FREE

These treatments cost you nothing. The results are quick and convincing. You will feel the difference the first day. I have found that 50 per cent of the cases of deafness and head noises are caused primarily by nasal catarrh. I often advise these sufferers, causes rheumatism and many other troubles. Usually one ear is affected first, the deafness grows worse with every severe cold until the other ear is affected. My original home treatment will stop all this. I have restored hearing in many extreme cases; one woman had been growing deaf for 40 years; a man 85 years old who had been deaf for many years can now hear again. Hundreds of other instances similar to these have told me of the treatment's success.

TRY IT FREE

In addition, I will send you absolutely free my new book on Deafness, Head Noises and Catarrh. It discusses fully the curable and incurable kinds of deafness. Write today for this free test treatment. State if you are deaf, have head noises or just nasal catarrh or head catarrh. Write or print your name plainly. Do not delay. This notice may not appear again. For 30 days I am going to give away 25,000 free treatments.

Storekeeper Was

Killed by Bandit

John, Ill., April 14—(AP)—Walter Fisher, 25, a store keeper and deputy sheriff of Mokena, was shot and killed near Orland at 10 o'clock today in a gun battle with an automobile thief. The slayer escaped.

The bandit and a companion held up Dr. E. G. McMahon of Mokena, near that village about 9 o'clock this morning, taking the physician's money and automobile.

Dr. McMahon telephoned to Mokena for help and Fisher and Barney Horst took up the chase of the high waymen. Near 143rd Street, half a mile east of Orland, they overtook the machine.

Fisher opened fire upon the high wayman with a rifle tearing out the rear end of the machine which the bandit was driving.

Drawing alongside the bandit car, Fisher covered the fugitive with his rifle and commanded him to surrender.

Instead of complying, the bandit who was armed with two revolvers, opened fire. Fisher was shot through the side.

The bandit stopped his car and leaping out ran into a field. Fisher died before medical aid reached him.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Today's chapter opens at a crisis in AUDREY MORTON'S love for her guardian, HARRY MORTON. He is rich, attractive, middle-aged and unmarried, and much courted by women.

For 15 years he has lived in Rochester, while Audrey has grown from little-girlhood, but the gossip there never has learned about his past, nor what his business is. He maintains also an expensive apartment in New York, which he visits almost weekly.

NONA, a New York stage girl, also loves Morton. After an effort to interest Audrey in his young secretary, JOHN PARRISH, Morton tries another tack, and sends for Nona to come to Rochester. Audrey meets her, but the two evade her. After a night of jealousy and heartache, Audrey learns that at least Morton and Nona were not together the previous night. They all return to New York, where Audrey overhears Morton make an appointment to be at the Ben Cabaret the following midnight.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

(The scenes and situations in this story are fictitious.)

CHAPTER XVI

YOUNG John Parrish arrived at Morton's New York office next morning, his face filled with gloom.

Morton looked up quickly as the young man marched into his presence, his overcoat still on, his briefcase in one hand and his hat in the other. He dropped the case on the table, and stood surveying his employee.

"You've had hardly any time at all for guitar lessons, or dancing," said Morton.

"No sir," said Parrish shortly. "I've just been riding up and down on a railroad train. I didn't see you yesterday at all, sir."

Morton tilted back in his chair and crossed his feet on the table. "I see there's something on your mind," he said. "Better relieve your self of it early so you won't spoil your day. Why all the gloom?"

Parrish stood on the other side of the polished walnut drumming nervously on the wood with his knuckles.

"I do want to say something, sir, but it's hard to say."

"Go ahead—don't mind me," Morton urged.

Parrish sat down. "Mr. Morton, you told me to talk, and I'm going to." He shifted the inkwell nervously, moved the briefcase further away and went on. "Mr. Morton, I don't believe you are the right man to be Miss Morton's guardian."

He traced himself, as if to resist an expected shock. "WARNER, however, did not blink. He kept his clear eyes fixed steadily on Parrish.

"Proceed," he ordered.

The young man hesitated, and then continued: "Everybody in Rochester is talking about your going to the theater, and to a hotel with that black-haired young woman. She's the one I took all that money to."

"Yes?" Morton's tone was encouraging.

"Well, I thought I'd say this, and then resign my job. I don't think that you're the right man to be guardian of a beautiful girl, and a good girl, and a girl like Miss Morton. I'm through now, sir. You'll have to get another secretary."

"Easy," said Mr. Morton. "Parrish had risen, but his employer motioned him to sit down.

"You have been quite frank with me," Morton said. "May I be quite as frank with you?" He removed his feet from the table, and leaned toward Parrish, on his elbows.

"May I remark, in passing, that you're an egotistical young ass?" There was no heat in Morton's voice.

Instead of complying, the bandit who was armed with two revolvers, opened fire. Fisher was shot through the side.

The bandit stopped his car and leaping out ran into a field. Fisher died before medical aid reached him.

"I don't think you're the right man to be guardian of a beautiful girl, and a good girl, and a girl like Miss Morton. I'm through now, sir. You'll have to get another secretary."

voice, Parrish squirmed in his chair, but did not reply.

"I think you're even a bit of a blockhead," Morton continued, comfortably. "Just how do you expect to improve Miss Morton's condition by quitting my service? Do I understand that you think highly of Miss Morton?"

"Of course I do," said Parrish, clearing his throat.

"Then hasn't it occurred to you that so virtuous a young man as yourself should remain near her, to protect her from any contamination that she might receive from me?" Morton's words were icy, but his eyes were twinkling a little.

Parrish moved restlessly.

Morton went on: "In your story books, did the saintly young knights run away from the dragon, or did they stay and rescue the maiden?"

Parrish was one of those men who blushed easily, and now his face was brick red. He gulped once or twice but produced no reply.

"As a matter of fact, Parrish, Morton went on, with a quiver of a smile at the corners of his mouth. "You really did not want to quit your position at all. You simply wanted to do what little boys do—throw a rock and then run away. Isn't that so?"

Parrish found his voice. "Why well—maybe that's so. I guess it is. I don't want to quit, but I want to tell you what I thought, and I didn't think you'd keep me."

"So you decided to run away," concluded Morton, dryly. "Now suppose we have no more of this piffle. You go ahead and attend to your work. If you think Miss Morton needs rescuing, go ahead and rescue her."

He swung around in his chair again, and once more elevated his feet to the table. "And you say the people in Rochester were much interested in my young lady friend?"

Parrish was very earnest in his answer. "Indeed they were, Mr. Morton. They all said it was terrible that you should bring a woman like that to Rochester, when Miss Morton lives there, and all."

"How do they know she was a woman like that?" asked Morton.

Instead of complying, the bandit who was armed with two revolvers, opened fire. Fisher was shot through the side.

The bandit stopped his car and leaping out ran into a field. Fisher died before medical aid reached him.
